For the Speedy and Permanent Cure of Seminal Weakness, Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Nervous and General Debilty, Impotence, and all Diseases arising from Solitary Habits, or Excessive Indulgence.

THERE are thousands of Young Men, as well as well the Men. As well as Impole Aged and Old Men, who are suffering to some extent from the above diseases. Many, perhaps, are not aware of their true condition, or when assistance is really needed.

For the benefit of such, we herewith give a few of the most common symptoms, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pain in the Head and Side, dimness of Sight, Dots and Webs before the Eyes, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Loss of Memory. Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Timidity, etc. For each and all of the above symptoms these remedies will be found a "Sovereign Balm."

These remedies embrace three prescriptions: A box of Pastels, a box of Nervous Tonic Pills, and a box of Virile Tonic Pills, all of which have important offices to perorm, and should be used together in every case. Their superiority over other modes of treatment may be briefly stated as follows, viz:

They diminish the violence of sexual excitement.

They diminish the violence of sexual excitoment.

They immediately arrest nocturnal and diurnal emissions.

They remove local weakness, causing the organs to assume their natural tone and vigor.

They strengthen the constitution by overcoming nervous debility and general weakness.

They enlive nive nive nive nive nive as which are usually depressed, by expelling all exciting causes from the system.

Advertising Agent for Heimstreet's Hair Restorative.

Dear Sir: The Medicines you introduced into our city_last winter are all having a large sale, and giving in every case satisfaction. Mr. James Henderson (one of our first citizens) says, that "he has used all of the Hair Dyes and Restoratives of the day, but has never used an article equal to Heimstreet's Inimitable Hair Restorative. That it far surpasses any preparation that he has ever tried for restoring the Hair of the bald and grey to its original luxuriance and beauty."

You can write the Proprietors, W. E. Hagan & Co., Troy, N, Y., that they have the cheapest and best Hair Restorative in our market, and that it gives satisfaction in every case.

Romeo, Macomb Co., Mich., July9, 1860.

Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.:

Gentlemen:—The confidence I have in Perry Davis'
Pain Killer as a remedy for Colds. Coughs. Burns Sprains, and Rheumatism, for the cure of which have successfully used it, induces me to cheerfully recommend its virtues to others.

A few months ago I had recourse to it to destroy a felon; although I had never heard of its being used for that purpose; but having suffered intensely from a former one, and having no other remedy at hand, I applied the Pain Killer freely for about fifteen minutes at evening, and repeated the application very briefly the next morning, which entirely destroyed the felon, and increased my confidence in the utility of the remedy.

Yours truly,

Minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

The Rebels Choosing Positions.

The rebels in front of Washington having obtained all the advantages that their position and defiant attitude could give, are now alowed to retire leisurely on such other positions as they shall choose to take up, anywhere on the road to Richmond. They have made our commanders believe that they ave had an overwhelming force, and have reld us in breathless immovableness for several months. Quite a number of cheap yet creditable devices have aided in this novel Washington, evidence that the river there is ated by concealed rebels if a forward move on it bombarding an encampment of the Fed- Run. They have been allowed to hold the eral troops on the Maryland shore. The passage of supplies to the Capital is obstructed, hold Winchester and Harper's Ferry in the and its effects are described in the brief state-ment that the live stock of the army have had to be put on half rations. There is no until they get where they choose to stay over

When retired to the Rappahannock it will be far more difficult to act against them; and if gone to Richmond, it will be quite impossible, as will probably be thought, to make a movement against them during the winter.

To break the military strength of a rebel ving been annihilated, and not only that, but lion so formidable as this is not an easy task, the "retirement" of the whole army of the all will admit, and some form of contest in the field must be expected. The golden opportunity was when their long weak lines reached to Leesburg, Harper's Ferry, and between the two shores. We do not suppose | Winchester on the north and stretched from this immediately threatens Washington, but Fairfax to Norfolk on the South. If we could now get them back there, and get over the credulity and fear which lead us to believe they have two hundred thousand men and countless masked batteries, a defeat could be The proportions of this rebellion can only be inflicted on them which would end the war. Their falsehoods and impudence have saved them, however, and they retire with no loss f men or of prestige, to any new ground

The rebel government may perish of its own weakness, but it would be more creditable to hundred thousand rebel and Union troops in us to kill it by a sufficient measure of viowhen everything they had was exposed, they will reasonably think that seventy or eighty miles of Virginia mud between them and Washington will enable them to rest in quiet The following is a list of names of ful in summer, but in winter all familiar with them knew that steam power could not drag any army wagon over them. What the authorities are thinking of as regards a winter campaign we know not, but a march hundred thousand men by land from Washington to Richmond, in November and Dember, is next to an impossibility. If the Confederates have really broken up their main camp at Manassas, and are withdrawing to the Rappahannock, it is scarcely reasonable to expect that any conflict of arms will take place in eastern Virginia, other than the skirmishing of outposts, which gains nothing of political or general consequence.

We lo not anticipate an entire reversal of the conditions we have endeavored to establish, or that Charleston will be wholly opened and the Potomac wholly closed. Yet the partia accomplishment of these ends proves that there is grave work to be done by somebody before the Union is restored. The public are ooking anxiously to see this work begun. The expenditure already made in money and men ought to have attained a practical result beyond the erection of earth works around Washington. Time passes rapidly, and on the verge of winter the rebels easily and safe withdraw into winter quarters, with the liging information frequently sent, us that they are one hundred and fifty to two hundred thousand strong, and can whip us out with the simple reserves they leave to tear up the railroad tracks behind them.

The Campaign in Western Virginia --- What of

The Wheeling Intelligencer is of the opinion that the campaign in Western Virginia is virtually ended for this season. It says that "if the army of Western Virginia is not largely reinforced very shortly, it will have to content itself for the remainder of the season with acting on the defensive," though that, in its opinion, "will not be an arduous ser-

We would have been pleased had the Intelligencer summed up the result of the cam-all paign in Western Virginia. One thing we know, that it has been a very expensive affair costing not less than sixty to a hundred millions of dollars, augmented beyond what was proper by official delinquency, red-tapeism, and the great difficulties of transportation, apprehending the like treatment, many citizens of his county who intended to remain To offset that, we can say the campaign has at home, and had done no illegal act, have been a very severe displinarian, and the ered as fit for any arduous service. They Anderson's proclamation, with the spirit of our law, and with prudent policy; and, if it which was sneered at by the Confederates shall be persisted in and become general, we apprehend it will necessarily lead to the augmentation of the Southern force, and to field. Indeed, it is about the only place augmentation of the Southern force, and to the exasperation of the civil war in Ken-

One of the reasons for sending an army invisit to you on this important subject. He to Western Virginia was to develop and encourage the Union feeling of that and support the new Government of Pier-pont. The first, all will admit, was a grand failure. Except in particular localiti the Ohio river, there are no fighting Union men in Western Virginia. That is the universal testimony of our troops. We are indeed told that there are seven regiments of Western Virginia Union men in the army. That is laughed at by those who are in the service in that quarter. There is one Virginia regiment made out of bona-fide inhab ants of that section. The others that go by the name are recruits drawn from Pennsy ania and Ohio. So far, therefore, as this reason for the campaign in Western Virginia s concerned, it may be put down as having proved a failure of expectations. Another reason as we understood, was to properly by members of Home Guards, but in every instance the case has been examined and by both divisions moving, the one in a southeasterly direction from the West, and the other in a Southerly and south westerly direction from Washington, to crush out be ween them all disunionism in the State. The Army of the Potomac is not as far advanced as it was months ago; while that of Western Virginia will have to fall back to where it started from, to commence the campaign anew in the spring.

So far as the great objects of the campaign in Western Virginia are concerned, it seems t us to have been barren of beneficial resultsthat is, it has failed to accomplish what was expected of it. If it has diverted enough Confederate troops from the Potomac to have good. Beyond that, besides disciplining and hardening our troops, and affording them op-portunities to show their valor and endurance we do not see that the results of the campaign

General Orders, No. 2. Headquarters Kentucky Militia.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, FRANKFORT, Oct. 18, 1861. THE public service demands that the galant men who have tendered their services to their State and Government, and are now in camp, shall be put into active service in the field at the earliest day possible.

It is now, therefore, ordered, by the direction of the Military Board, that all companies, parts of companies, independent, or attached to any regiment now forming within this Commonwealth, not having the mini-mum number of privates, (Infantry 64, Cavalry 56,) on the 10th day of November next. will be brought together and consolidated in-to companies with a view to a prompt organization of the companies into regiments, according to the provisions of acts of the General Assembly of the State.

Orders for consolidating fractional companies will be made with a view as far as may be practicable, of associating together men enlisted in the same neighborhood

All persons authorized to raise companies or regiments will report from day to day the number of men enlisted by them respectively, reporting only such as are actually in camp or tarters, and sworn into service.

The order for consolidating the fractional ompanies will be made on the returns from ecruiting officers, dated 10th November, A failure for three consecutive days to report the number of men in camp, as directed by this order, will be considered as an abandonment of the post by the officer in charge, and the authority given him to recruit will be at once cancelled, and another will be assigned to his place. By order.

Mehemet Ali's Pacificator.

Mr. Petherick tells some frightful stories of the ravages which were committed in the Soudan by "the Defterdar," Mehemet Ali's Pacificator, who went out to bring the Abyssinians under his government, and succeeded in making them regard him as the worst fiend who had ever cursed even that unenlightened country. An Arab woman came to him on day to complain that one of his soldiers had robbed her of a pitcher of milk, which he drank before her face, refusing to pay for itthe value being one piastre. On being asked if she could recognize the man, and on her pointing him out, the Defterdar told her he would convince himself of the truth of her assertion, which, if false, she should answer with the loss of her head. Thereupon he ordered the prisoner to be thrown upon the ground and a Mameluke to cut open his stomach with a kangar; and as the presence of a quantity of milk there was undeniable, the Pasha, coolly throwing a dollar to the terrified complainant, remarked to the bystanders that the soldier had merited his fate by having, in the first instance, committed a theft, and afterwards told a deliberate lie-both of which acts were disgraceful to a soldier. This frightful parody of the judgment of Solomon appears, however, to have contented him, nor was he in a hurry to sacrifice another soldier to his scrupulous sense of justice. On another occasion we are told of a peasant who came before him to complain that a soldier had stolen a sheep, and whom he answered with a "Dog, do you dare to trouble me with such a trifle?" Then, "composing himself Then, "composing himself for an instant, and catching a fly, at which he was a great adept, and which in his wicked moods was a favorite occupation, he order ed his attendants to take the man before the Kadi. He had been known to tie an Arab to a gun to make it poise better on camel back, and to mutilate him in the most horrid ways on the slightest provocation. Several of his mutid victims came under the observation of Mr. Petherick, and while relating the sufferings they bitterly cursed their barbarous au-Mehemet Ali, wearied at length with the endless complaints of his cruelties, is said to have put an end to the life of his monster son-in-law by poison

After the flowing bowl, handed from one to the other, has passed round, business is recommenced by a third party -one of the grey-headed old pead makers—speechifying in praise of the bride-groom's purse and family, and the respectability of the dowry; and while acknowledg-ing the value of the bride's family, and the beauty of the bride, insists that they are too hard upon the young man; and that for a con- say-the poorest, meanest, most unproductive sideration of two days more per week being added to the term, the marriage should hold good, he undertaking that a suitable addition shall be added to the amount of dowry fixed upon by both parties.

How Mr. Petherick Cured a Venomous Snake Bite.

We give the author's own words: "The Sheikh informed us that a valued negress, who had reared his children, had been bitten by a serpent at the well; and so fatal was its venom, that the negress would certainly die. To a request to see her, in order to apply some remedy, he replied that it was quite useless, the poison of the serpent being deadly. Persisting in my desire, I was to Aden, who has traveled extensively in Africa and the Soudan. His explorations extended from Khartoum on the White Soudan into an inner court, where, extended on the ground, I found a powerfully constituted woman, past the middle age, in whom life was still apparent. Speechless, it tended from Khartoum, on the White Nile, to the regions of the Equator, over a vast space, as his sketch map testifies, and they are her on the foot. How to get Along with Barbarians.

Mr. Petherick had some adventures among the Soudan tribes, which are more amusing to us than they could possibly have been to himself. However, he always shows grit and gets out of his "fixes" on all occasions as well as in the following instance. The hostile tribe of the Wady Koing detained him on one occasion. For awhile he overawed them and made them keep their hands off by reading an old newspaper, of which they stood in terror, and telling them that a drought which then prevailed was caused by their inhospitality. At length, however, all other means failed, and he was compelled to resort to this ingenious expedient. He says:

"Although I was convinced that the chief, Tschol, secretly encouraged his men, he in the present instance made a demonstration in my favor-he threatened them with a curse unless they dispersed. Some device now be came necessary to obtain a further respite for the desired rains; and, setting my wits to work, I hit upon an expedient which I at once put in execution. Dispatching some men to catch half-a-dozen large flies, bearing ome resemblance to a horse fly, but much larger, which infested a temporary shed where my donkey had been kept, the men, confident the success of anything I undertook, set about the task with a will. In the course of the afternoon they were fortunately obtained, and were consigned to an empty bottle. At the appointed time my persecutors did not fail to appear, and, shaking a little flour over my flies, I sallied out among them, bottle in hand. Referring to their wants, I treated them to a long harangue touching the depredations which, I had learnt in conversation with the chief, they had committed upon the tions of unoffending men who had fallen into their power; also to several abstractions of girls from poor unprotected families of their own tribe, without the payment of the custo-mary dowry in cattle; and dwelt upon the impossibility of their obtaining rain until restitution and satisfaction were made. They unanimously denied the charges, when I told them it was nothing less than I had expected but that I was furnished with the means of satisfying myself of the veracity of their assertions. The proof would consist of their restoring me the flies, which I intended to liberate from the bottle I held. In the event of their succeeding, they should be rewarded with abundant rain, but if one fly escaped, it was a sign of their guilt, and they would be punished with a continuation of drought un-til restitution was made; therefore it was in their own power to procure rain or other-wise. Hundreds of clubs and lances were

The Campaign in Western Virginia.

The campaign in Western Virginia has The two armies have retired at a safe listance from each other, the rains and frosts have rendered the roads impassable; and active operations are suspended; not to be recomed until the frosts are over and the ground settled in the spring.

It is a question that will rise, how much has been gained by the expenditure of men and money that has been incurred by the Government during the past season in the Kanawha and Cheat River Valleys, and the adjacent territory? The country is a hard one in which to conduct military operations; and the season, in consequence of almost continued rains that have occurred, has been bad, perhaps beand losses by combat, the campaign has been unusually severe upon the troops; and has been, if accounts can be relied upon, paralleled by few of equal duration in the history of modern warfare. The amount of suffering from fatigue, privation and exposure, has been very great; and if we could sum up and pre-sent it all in a single aggregate its appearance would at once astonish and appall. The campaign in Western Virginia has not, to appearance, exercised any influence been such a thing—produced any effect upon the general result. Our armies has been employed in invading or defending—whether the most of one or the other it is difficult to and least desirable country of which they had any idea; a country as poor in respect to inhabitants as to the soil. They have been able to conquer and keep of this region as much as, for the time being, they occupied, and little Another general outburst, among which of any more, and this at the expense of a kind of war that is, more than any other, unsatisfactory and discouraging to those who are required to meet it—a war with enemies who lurk in caves and thickets, and who are most deadly and destructive where their presence is least suspected. What between the lurking enemies and the diseases incident to the country, the amount of death and of perma nent disability, is very large, and demands

The troops have improved, perhaps, in disciease has been so great that the aggregate efficiency has not been increased, there is a large drawback to be taken into the account. have gained no territory; there are no brilliant battles to make a figure upon the page of history; the rebellion has not been mate rially crippled by the campaign, and, so far as appears, we may annually repeat the business of this season in Western Virginia, and vet annually have it to do over again as long as we choose to try the experiment.

the Biver--Ths Death of Col. Baker---Interesting Details by An Eye-Witness.

A special dispatch of the 23d inst., to the New York Tribune, gives the following account of the battle of Edwards' Ferry, which is the most complete and connected that has vet reached us:

A gentleman attached to Colonel Baker's Brigade, who witnessed a part of the engagement, furnishes the following particulars: Two battalions, 1,000 men of the California, the Tammany and Massachusetts 15th Regiments, crossed on Monday morning at Conrad's Ferry and landed. Pickets were thrown ut, and a large force of rebels discovered. About 3 o'clock Baxter's, Owen's, and Morehead's regiments, of Baker's Brigade, arrived at the Ferry, but failed to cross, the only two scows used in the morning having been sunk, one in the morning while taking a cannon across, and the other in returning after the first repulse, with about a hundred men, who jumped on board in the wildest confusion, many of whom were drowned.

Baker was killed when making the first charge after successfully rallying his

No cannon was used by the enemy in the engagement, and the Union forces got but one across. There were seven in position on this side, two at Conrad's Ferry, and five at Edward's Ferry, about six miles apart. At the latter, two scows and a canal boat were used to convey troops across all day.

A considerable number had assembled on the Virginia side of this ferry when the batnmenced, but it was not considered safe to re-inforce Col. Baker from that point. The enemy was seen in and around a fortification opposite Edwards: Ferry in the morning and the course of the ing, and the guns on this side were opened upon them under the personal direction of Gen. Stone. At the first fire the rebels struck their tents and fled.

The loss on our side is unquestionably very large—larger than that of the enemy.

Col. Baker's remains, escorted by a squad of Van Allen's Cavalry, under command of Capt. Young, and accompanied by deceased's son, Lieut. Baker, and his brother, Dr. Baker, both of whom were in the engagement, arrived at the residence of Col. J. W. Webb this

F. G. Young, of New York, aid to Col. Baker, and who was with him when he died, gives the following account;

Gen. Stone ordered Col. Baker, on Sunday evening, to have his brigade ready to move at 7 o'clock on Monday morning. The brigade was then stationed five miles from Conforce. Six companies of the first battalion of the California Regiment, three pieces of artillery, with men and horses, belonging to the Tammany Regiment, with Col. Baker, Colonel Coggswell, Lieut. Col. Wistar, Assist. Adj. Gen. Harvey, and Capt. Young, got to the island, where we were joined by a battery of the Second Rhode Island Artillery with two small howitzers. The passage to the island was very difficult, with our insufficient means of transportation, the distance being quarter of a mile and the current swift. We poled ourselves up the eastern shore a long distance, thence were drifted down to the land-From the island to the Virginia shore, our only means of transportation was one scow and a metalic boat of little or no service. We landed under a steep bank, 100 feet high, covered with rocks and jungle.

Scrambling up the bank, we found an open field of six acres, with thick woods on three sides, out of which came a constant, irregular

Soon after Capt. Stewart's appearance, Col. Baker, who was, during the whole engagement, perfectly cool and brave, on foot, che ing and leading on the men, was shot from the woods, several balls making fatal wounds, and all believed to have been shot from one revolver. The rebel who shot him ran out in his shirt sleeves, followed by four or five others. As they approached the body, Capt. Devins, Bieral of the Twenty-Second, and Ward the pugilist, with ten men of his company, rushed forward, shot the killer, and drove away the rest.

Capt. Young bore the body from the field. The hundred and twenty of the first bat-talion, the only one in the engagement of Baker's regiment, were missing at 10 this morning; of two companies of the Tammany regiment engaged there were 100 missing; of 600 of the Massachusetts regiment, at half were missing yesterday. There were obout 1,700 in all engaged.

Gen. Banks crossed at Edwards' Ferry at 5 o'clock yesterday, and joined 5,000 men of his command already on the other side. There was fighting at that hour, with cavalry, infantry, and artillery engaged. The firing had ceased at 6 o'clock, with no result.

In the Circuit Court this morning the Judges asked the Clerk if there had been any return to the writ issued against Gen. Porter, the Provost Marshal. The Clerk answered: "There was none." District Attorney Car-rington, in behalf of Deputy Marshal Philips, presented a paper, with an affidavit of Mr. Phillips, stating that the writ had not been served, because he had been ordered by the President not to serve it, because the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus had been suspended for the present, by order of the President. In regard to soldiers in the United States army within the District of Columbia, Mr. Carrington offered to submit an agreement to the court in behalf of Marshal Phillips, but the court announced that it did not propose to take any steps against him. As the return presented a grave question, the court desired to hold it under advisement, and an adjournment was made until next Wednesday morn-

While Lord Lyons was prevented by an ailment from receiving the invitation to attend the funeral of Col. Baker in time to avail himself of it, the French Minister similarly excused himself to the Secretary of State, and that occasion was caused by indisposition, for which he expresses regret.

The Red Wing came up from the flotilla last night, bringing up Capt. Fox, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and at one o'clock she left the navy yard to join the flotilla. It is reported that theice boat which has a fine battery of 4 guns, and another steamer ran up past the Matthias Point battery.

Proclamation by the Governor.

WHEREAS, The following resolutions, viz WHEREAS, Kentucky has been invaded by the forces of the so-called Confederate States. and the commanders of the forces so invading the State have insolently prescribed the conditions upon which they will withdraw, thus insulting the dignity of the State by demanding terms to which Kentucky cannot listen without dishonor; therefore,

1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the invaders must be expelled; inasmuch as there are now in Kentucky Federal troops assembled for the purpose of preserving the tran-quility of the State, and of defending and protecting the people of Kentucky in the peaceful enjoyment of their lives and property, it is— Further resolved, That General Robert

Anderson, a native Kentuckian, who has been appointed to the command of the Department of Cumberland, be requested to take instant command, with authority and power from this Commonwealth to call out a volunteer force in Kentucky for the purpose of repelling the invaders from our soil.

3. Resolved, That in using the means which duty and honor require shall be used to expel the invaders from the soil of Kentucky, no citizen shall be molested on account of his political opinions; that no citizens' property shall be taken or confiscated because of such opinions, nor shall any slave be set free by any military commander, and that all peaceable citizens and their families are entitled to, and shall receive the fullest protection of the Government in the enjoyment of their lives, their liberties and their property.

4. Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, be requested to give all the aid in his power to accomplish the end desired by these resolutions, and that he call out so much of the military force of the State under his command, as may be necessary therefor, and that he place the same under the command of Gen. Thomas L. Crittenden.

5. Resolved, That the patriotism of every Kentuckian is invoked, and is confidently relied upon to give active aid in the defense of

The Inventor's Claims as acknowledged and protected by the Governments of Canada, the United States, and Great Britain;

to all whom it may concern.

What I claim as my invention is, the contrivance of keeping accounts current, of whatever kind, description, or variety, in printed form, by keeping the statements of the several accounts standing in printers' type, or their equivalents, the type being so arranged in form as to admit of being readily and quickly re-adjusted in any particular part, where an account may have undergone a change, by the lapse or time or the current of business transactions; so that, when readjusted in all such parts up to any given date, an impression then taken from the type shall exhibit, in printed form, the true state of all the accounts so kept, accurately representing all the balances or conclusions, in accordance with the end or ends contemplated in keeping the record; rendering it, in commercial business, a balance sheet of the most compact and perfect character, the details of management being substantially as recited in specification, wherein it is shown, that the fact or facts to be recorded, may be represented by figures, symbols, dates, or numbers, used either separately or in combination, or by whatever else will indicate the fact or facts account of the most contrivance of rendering or transmitting accounts in partial or full statements, when the statement or statements so sent are, thus, or substantially thus, kept in type, by the contrivances of my invention, be the medium of rendering or transmitting accounts in partial or full statements, when the statement or statements so sent are, thus, or substantially thus, kept in type, by the contrivances of my invention, be the medium of transmission what it may, but the particular mode of rendering accounts by the use of the Dispatch Machine, co stituted of Apron Movement, Reel, and Cutter stamp, i claim in the broadest and fullest sense; and also the machine itself, embracing all its forms a d mod s of operating, as indicated in describing it, either as a simple hand instrument, or as procelled by machinery. And in connection with these specific claims, and based upon them, I also claim all atter means and appliances substantially the same as those herein claimed or intended to be claimed. With these claims fully acknowledged and protected as above, this invention has already spread itself over Canada, eighteen States of the American Union, and into Great Britain, and is now used in more than three hundred Newspaper Offices. Its immense value to banking and similar institutions will be shown in a circular which will make its appearance soon. Meanwhile applications for information, "Deeds of Right," or "Dispatch Machines," will receive due attention, when addressed either to Rev. Robert Dick, and Britaines, London, England.

JOY TO THE AFFLICTED!!!

It cures Nervous and Debilitated Sufferers, and removes all the Symptoms, among which will be found Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, often Enormous Appetite; with Dsypeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Counterance, and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Head, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the eyes, with temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more Desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread than fear for themselves; no repose of manner, no earnestness, no speculation but a hurried transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—whi this medicine invariably removes—soon follows Loss or Power, Fatuty, and Effletic Firs, in one of which the patient may expire. Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases—Insantry and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample testimony to the truth of these assertions. In lunatic asylums, the most melancholy exhibition appears. ums, the most melancitory exhibition appears countenance is actually sodden and quite des p. Neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Proclamation by the Governor.

WHEREAS, The following act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, cordially approved by me on the 20th instant, is the law of the land, I think proper, in the exercise of my executive duties, to make the same promptly known to the public, as I do hereby, and I do earnestly enjoin all citizens and residents of this State to be obedient to all the requirements thereof, to the end that the humane and noble purposes of the Legislature may be faithfully effected. The said act of the General Assembly is as follows:

Resolutions providing for the peace and quiet of the citizens of this Commonwealth. Whereas, The people of Kentucky have, from the beginning, ardently desired and still cherish the hope that they may not be involved in the unnatural, prevailing civil strife that Kentucky is now, as she ever has been, willing, and ready to interpose her friendily mediation in adjusting terms of peace and reconciliation alike honorable and just to all; but as her wishes to mediate and restore har. but as her wishes to mediate and restore har- LOOK AT THIS mony may not avail at present, and it is desirable that the people in the meantime, should act in harmony, and be at peace among themselves, so that if they shall be involved in war, they will as far as possible
